

Access ASA-CSSA-SSSA Journals, Magazines & Books Now Hosted on Wiley Online Library (WOL)

Society members can log in on Wiley Online Library using their society member credentials with American Society of Agronomy (ASA), Crop Science Society of America (CSSA), or Soil Science Society of America (SSSA).

The ASA-CSSA-SSSA member management system or identity provider is integrated with Wiley Online Library (WOL) to authenticate members with individual members subscription access to publications. Users are automatically taken to and from the society's designated login page and the transition is seamless – it simply looks like a page loading in the same tab – and does not require action by the user other than entering their society member credentials.

Wiley does not have access to member's society username or password, so if you have any questions about your membership, please call 608-273-8080, or email us at membership@sciencesocieties.org

If users don't already have a WOL account, they will be prompted to create one during their first log-in on WOL.

The login box on the WOL Society Home Page is re-configured to prioritize society login by displaying it first and setting it as the default (top blue button).

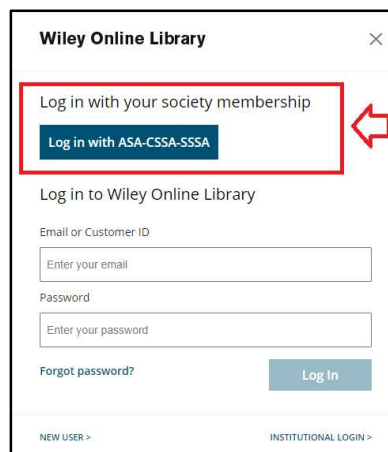

Instructions for Login:

You can go directly to <https://www.agronomy.org/login/wiley> to bypass Steps 1 and 2 and jump ahead to Step 3.
