Science Societies

Help shape science policy at Congressional Visits Day

Awards now open to attend the 2026 event

October 9, 2025

The next Congressional Visits Day will be held Feb. 24–25, 2026. Members interested in science advocacy can apply for an award to attend. Selected participants will receive fully funded travel and lodging.

Scientists, students, and certified professionals play a vital role in advocating for food, agriculture, and natural resources research. Each year, ASA, CSSA, and SSSA members have the chance to meet with lawmakers on Capitol Hill to demonstrate the value and impact of scientific research funding.

The next Congressional Visits Day will be held February 24–25, 2026. Members interested in science advocacy can apply through the Excellence in Advocacy Award or the Future Leaders in Science Award. Selected participants will receive fully funded travel and lodging to attend.

Apply now

More science policy

Back to current issue

Text © . The authors. CC BY-NC-ND 4.0. Except where otherwise noted, images are subject to copyright. Any reuse without express permission from the copyright owner is prohibited.