2026 ASA Southern Branch annual meeting

Learn about key deadlines for the Jan. 31–Feb. 3 event in Louisville

December 4, 2025

American Society of Agronomy

The ASA Southern Branch is holding its 2026 annual meeting in conjunction with the Southern Association of Agricultural Scientists meeting. It's a venue for collaboration and networking among agronomy professionals and students in the Southern Region. Key deadlines are coming up, include the December 12 deadline for abstract submissions, awards, and elections.

Every year, the ASA Southern Branch holds a meeting in conjunction with the Southern Association of Agricultural Scientists meeting. This meeting provides a venue for collaboration and networking among agronomy professionals and students in the Southern Region.

There will be poster (graduate and undergraduate) and oral (graduate) competitions for students along with professional awards. In addition, voting is underway through Dec. 12, 2026 for 2026–2027 ASA Southern Branch Secretary/Treasurer.
