2026 Society award nominations are now open

January 22, 2026

Nominations for the 2026 ASA, CSSA, and SSSA awards are officially open!

This is your opportunity to honor excellence in the agronomic, crop, soil, and environmental sciences—from emerging student leaders to seasoned professionals shaping the future of our disciplines. Whether you are nominating a deserving colleague or applying for an award yourself, the portal is now live and ready for your submission.

Nominations for the 2026 ASA, CSSA, and SSSA awards are officially open! This is your opportunity to honor excellence in the agronomic, crop, soil, and environmental sciences—from emerging student leaders to seasoned professionals shaping the future of our disciplines. Whether you are nominating a deserving colleague or applying for an award yourself, the portal is now live and ready for your submission.

Each award recognizes outstanding contributions in research, education, service, and leadership. We are proud to honor individuals whose work reflects the values and vision of our Societies. Award recipients are recognized annually at our CANVAS awards ceremonies and featured in CSA News magazine.
