Science Societies

Mott Award honors top graduate students

March 17, 2020

Crop Science
SOCIETY OF AMERICA

Congratulations to the students who are recipients of this year's Gerald O. Mott Meritorious Graduate Student Award in Crop Science. This annual award recognizes top-notch graduate students pursuing advanced degrees in crop science disciplines. Departments select students based on academic achievements, research and teaching contributions, leadership accomplishments, service activities, and personal qualifications.

The award is named for the first CSSA President Gerald O. Mott who trained 75 graduate students during his 45-year career at Purdue University and the University of Florida. Many of his students have become eminent forage scientists in the United States and Latin America. The award is offered by CSSA.

Sumandeep Bazzer
University of Arkansas

Bishwoyog Bhattarai
Texas Tech University

Austin Dobbels
University of Minnesota-Twin Cities

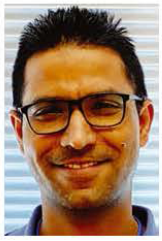

Joseph Doherty
University of Maryland

Tu Huynh
Ohio State University

David Jaramillo
University of Florida

Bhupinder Singh Jatana
Clemson University

Nakhyun Kim
Univeristy of Illinois

Rebecca McGrail
University of Kentucky

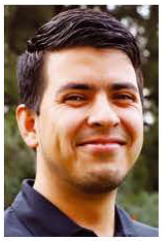

Qi Mu
Iowa State University

DOI: 10.1002/csan.20095

Bernard Mensah Nyamesorto
Montana State University

Osler Ortez
University of Nebraska-Lincoln

Kara Powelson
Missouri State University

Leonardo Rocha
Southern Illinois University

Blake Russell
Purdue University

Hardeep Singh
Oklahoma State University

Jasdeep Singh
South Dakota State University

Simarjeet Singh
California State University-Fresno

Mohit Verma
Louisiana State University

Joey Williams
Mississippi State University

More for students

Back to issue

Back to home

Text © . The authors. CC BY-NC-ND 4.0. Except where otherwise noted, images are subject to copyright. Any reuse without express permission from the copyright owner is prohibited.